

Statement of independence

The Global Health Impact Organization (GHI) is committed to using scientific data and objective analysis to rate the impact of pharmaceutical companies' drugs on the global burden of disease. GHI recognizes that this requires robust safeguards to guard the objectivity of its ratings. To that end, GHI is strongly dedicated to maintaining its independence from the pharmaceutical industry. GHI does not accept funding from pharmaceutical companies and requires its employees and volunteers to certify their freedom from conflicts of interest, in writing, at regular intervals. Moreover its Advisory Board oversees the updating, maintenance, and enforcement of a robust conflicts of interest policy.
